

Five Common Mistakes Home Gardeners Make

I like to say that folks "get the flavor of gardening by gardening." That of course means you will not only celebrate the triumph of a beautiful blooming perennial, but you may also suffer the agony of defeat as you make gardening mistakes. My goal is to advise home gardeners to avoid the frustrating and costly mistakes that take away from all the fun and satisfaction gardening provides.

A Cost-Effective Way to Enjoy the Fruits (and Vegetables!) of Your Labor

It's been a favorite in the best of times and the worst of times – the home vegetable garden. A well-planned and planted garden can result in vegetables like tomatoes, zucchini, beans, carrots and squash – all ready to grace your kitchen table. The joy of growing your own vegetables is not only fun and exciting, it also helps save dollars and cents!

Take a Slug at Slugs this Spring

Spring is here, and if you're like most home gardeners, you're anxious to be even more successful than you were last year in combating slugs. Slugs can cost you time, because if you apply slug baits improperly you'll only have to do it again. They can cost you money because if slugs eat your plants, especially early in the season, you'll have to buy new ones.
