Code of Conduct
Our Purpose
Every day, our products and services have a positive impact on the lives of millions of people. This is not only a great privilege, but also a great responsibility. How we achieve our business results is just as important as the achievements themselves.

Around the world we are driven by our firm commitment to high quality and operational excellence across the regions, functions and markets we serve, every day. Passion for customer success, empowerment, trust and integrity govern how we do business and how we interact with each other. As individuals and as teams, we are making Lonza the place to go, stay and grow.

Our Commitment
We are committed to:
- Delivering value to our customers
- Enabling our employees to succeed
- Continuously improving performance
- Making Lonza a recognized member of its communities

Performance with Integrity
- Fast Facts: Integrity

Our activities are guided by our vision and our ambition to perform with integrity. This Code of Conduct defines the professional standards we expect of our employees and applies to all actions and activities of all Lonza companies in the pursuit of a high level of ethics, compliance and social responsibility.

Non-compliant growth may be fast and steep, but it is also temporary and fleeting. In contrast, sustainable and compliant growth is in the best interest of Lonza and all of its stakeholders, as it:
- Secures Lonza’s freedom to operate and to grow its business long-term
- Promotes investor confidence through reliability on Lonza’s behavior
- Attracts and retains the best talent
- Increases the respect and recognition of our customers

Lonza sees this Code of Conduct as a key element of our relationship with all employees and third parties. The Board of Directors insists on full compliance with this Code of Conduct. Any success we achieve is no success at all if not achieved ethically. Thank you for all you do to uphold the values and culture of Lonza.

Marc Funk, CEO
Albert M. Baehny, Chairman of the Board

Global Commitment. Local Responsibility.
As a member of society, Lonza is committed to responsible business conduct, to the United Nations Global Compact, and to other principles of sustainability and corporate social responsibility. Lonza will act responsibly in our relationships with governments, regulatory entities, partners, customers and vendors. We know to be a successful company, we must work together, frequently transcending organizational and geographic boundaries, to meet the changing needs of all our stakeholders.

All employees are duty bound to obey all applicable laws, maintain the highest ethical and professional standards, and act with social and environmental responsibility, all in keeping with the fundamental values of openness, loyalty, fair dealing, integrity, mutual respect and honesty. Employees should familiarize themselves with best business practices in their area of responsibility and implement them conscientiously.

Fast Facts: Principles of Political Engagement

Who We Are
Lonza is committed to sustainable values, which include investing in our people and our communities, as well as responsible sourcing, environment, health and safety. Lonza supports and respects human rights. Investing in communities includes, among others, the civic commitment by Lonza to contribute to a transparent dialogue on topics that are relevant to Lonza, our business and constituencies, our employees and stakeholders.

Who Owns and Manages Lonza’s Risk?
Lonza’s success depends on the success of the Lonza employees to run the business, and to manage its risk, at all levels of Lonza. Sound principles of risk management and control suggest that Lonza’s business risk is managed by each and every employee in his or her daily work. In a second step, functions such as Quality Assurance, Finance, Legal, IP and Ethics and Compliance provide independent checks and controls. As a third layer, Internal Audit performs periodic reviews to control risk. Ownership of risk therefore stays with every employee, and so does accountability for ethical and compliant behavior – both cannot be delegated.

Who Does the Code of Conduct Apply To?
This Code of Conduct applies to all Lonza employees, subsidiaries and members of our Board of Directors. All employees are expected to know, understand and comply with all laws, regulations and best business practices that apply to their activities. In addition, certain laws may apply to conduct that occurs outside the country in which an employee works – for example, in the case of anti-corruption and anti-bribery laws. Be sure to consult your manager or the Legal Department if you are unclear about which laws and regulations apply to your activities or if you require further support and assistance.

This Code of Conduct covers some of Lonza’s most important policies, but it is not exhaustive. We rely on you to exercise good judgment in your decision making and to ask for help when you have questions or concerns not addressed in this Code of Conduct.
Anti-Discrimination and Equal Employment Opportunities
Lonza recognizes that its people are the cornerstone of its success and we value our diversity as a source of strength. Lonza is committed to non-discriminatory working practices. Independent of their position, all employees are duty bound to treat their colleagues with fairness, courtesy, and respect.

Lonza does not tolerate any verbal, electronic or physical discrimination, harassment, or bullying on the basis of ethnicity, national origin, color, religion, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression, creed, age, sex, disability, veteran status or any similar characteristic. Nor will Lonza engage in, or support, child labor, human trafficking, slavery, or bonded or forced labor of any kind in the research, manufacture, sale and distribution of our products or by our suppliers.

Conflicts of Interest
Lonza’s best interests are the paramount consideration in all business transactions. Doing what is right for Lonza is important. A conflict of interest occurs when a Lonza employee’s personal activities or relationships interfere with his or her objectivity in doing what is best for Lonza. Situations that create, or appear to create, a conflict between a Lonza employee’s personal benefit and Lonza’s interests should be avoided, or else be disclosed to management and resolved.

Anti-Corruption and Anti-Bribery
No Lonza employee shall offer any payment or improper financial advantage to any government official (including any employee of a government-controlled agency, state-owned enterprise, or public international organization) or any other third party (including customers and suppliers) for the purpose of obtaining or retaining a commercial advantage of any kind. Bribes, kickbacks or similar payments are never permitted, whether made to a government official or to customers, suppliers, or other private parties. Similarly, Lonza employees may not solicit or accept such payments. All Lonza employees and any third party acting on Lonza's behalf must comply with all applicable anti-bribery laws and regulations.

Business Gifts
Offering, soliciting or accepting gifts and donations related to our business is prohibited. However, entertainment and gifts of significant monetary value arising out of ordinary corporate hospitality are acceptable provided they do not violate applicable law.

Insider Trading
Lonza employees may become aware of material non-public information about Lonza or other companies (such as mergers, acquisitions, significant contracts, financial results, significant research or innovation results). Employees possessing such information are prohibited from trading in stock, securities or derivative financial instruments emanating from Lonza or the other company or companies involved, nor may they disclose such inside information to another person. Breaches of confidentiality, including insider trading, may violate applicable laws and lead to civil or criminal prosecution.

Fair Competition
Lonza is committed to the principles of fair competition and respects the laws restricting the operation of cartels and other monopolistic practices. Lonza employees must be aware of antitrust and competition laws and their implications in their business area.

In addition, business information about other companies should only be collected and used ethically and in a way that does not violate any laws or confidentiality obligations. Lonza employees must never use, or ask any third party to use, unlawful or unethical means such as misrepresentation, deception, theft, spying or bribery to gather information.

Use and Protection of Business Assets and Confidential Information
The products, services, ideas, concepts and other information Lonza produces on a daily basis are important company proprietary business assets. Lonza employees have a duty to protect and make careful use of Lonza’s business assets.

Confidentiality should be maintained with regard to sensitive information and commercial secrets, including trade secrets. Lonza employees may not disclose confidential or sensitive information other than for legitimate business purposes and with the appropriate safeguards.

Intellectual Property
Protecting Lonza’s intellectual property is essential to maintaining Lonza’s competitive advantage. Lonza employees are expected to support the establishment, protection, maintenance, and defense of Lonza’s rights in all commercially significant intellectual property and to use those rights in a responsible way.

Accuracy of Records
Lonza expects all employees to keep books, records, and accounts that accurately and fairly reflect all transactions, dispositions of assets, and other events. No payment on behalf of Lonza may be approved or made with the intention or awareness that any part of the payment will be used for any purpose other than that described by the documentation supporting the payment.

Lonza expects its employees to report any unrecorded funds or assets or false or artificial entries in Lonza’s books and records to the Legal Department. In addition, Lonza expects employees to comply with its travel and expense reporting policies. In particular, employees should submit all business expenses via approved programs and accurately categorize expenses.
Business Partnerships
Lonza holds its vendors to high standards. Our suppliers play an important role as enablers of our company’s sustainable growth and overall success. We demand strict adherence by our suppliers to all policies that relate to work conducted on Lonza’s behalf, including our principles for labor, environment, health and safety.

How We Implement
This Code of Conduct will be made available to all current and new employees. Lonza will also include this Code of Conduct in employee training programs and will monitor compliance. Training may be web-based or live. Audits of compliance with this Code of Conduct may occur periodically.

When implementing this Code of Conduct, Lonza companies shall take account of local laws and regulations. The boards of directors of Lonza companies shall pass appropriate resolutions enabling the implementation of this Code of Conduct.

How We Maintain
Lonza has an ethics and compliance program designed to support legal and ethical actions throughout the company. The ethics and compliance program covers the activities of advice and assistance, education and training, and monitoring and control. Ethics and compliance related trainings will be assigned to Lonza employees throughout each calendar year, including periodic training on this Code of Conduct. Lonza employees are required to take all assigned ethics and compliance training courses, either through the online compliance training portal or by attending scheduled live-trainings. Failure to complete these required trainings on time may result in disciplinary or other corrective action, at the discretion of Lonza management.

The foundation of our ethics and compliance commitment is openness, accessibility, and discussion within the Lonza community. Most issues can be resolved at the local level before they become problems for employees, Lonza or the public.

The Lonza Open Door and Non-Retaliation policy encourages employees to present ideas, ask questions, or voice concerns about any subject, especially those related to company policies and procedures, GMP guidelines, correct data and recordkeeping, and ethical or legal questions. Anyone who, in good faith, raises a concern about a possible ethics or compliance breach will be supported by Lonza management, and will not be subject to any retaliation. Lonza has a strict non-retaliation policy. Any act or threat of retaliation will in itself be considered a serious violation of this Code of Conduct.

How We Enforce
Violations of law can result in civil and criminal penalties for Lonza and its employees. Other consequences of breaches may include loss of business, loss of faith and confidence in Lonza, damage to the personal reputations of employees, and increased risk of safety and environmental hazards.

Lonza will investigate any suspected failure to comply with this Code of Conduct, its supporting policies, or the laws and regulations governing the company. Employees must fully cooperate in all such investigations. Lonza reserves the right to take appropriate corrective action in response to any violations, which may include suspension or termination of employment.
