

Christoph Mäder

Christoph Mäder (1959) holds a Master's degree in Law from the University of Basel and is admitted to the Swiss Bar. He is Vice Chairman of economiesuisse, the main umbrella organization representing the Swiss economy. He is also a member of the Board of scienceindustries, the association of Swiss chemical, pharmaceutical and biotech industries; a member of the Board of the Basel Chamber of Commerce; and a member of the Executive Board of the Business and Industry Advisory Committee (BIAC) for the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD).

Current Function

Member of the Group Executive Committee of Syngenta, a global Swiss agribusiness company with a CHF 37 billion market capitalization (since 2000).

Former Activities and Functions

- Head of Legal & Public Affairs for Novartis Crop Protection AG (1999 – 2000)
- Senior Corporate Counsel for Novartis International AG (1992 – 1998)
- Corporate Counsel for Sandoz International AG (1992 – 1996)
- Legal Counsel for the Chamber of Commerce of Canton of Aargau (1990 – 1992)
- Scientific Assistant in Constitutional Law at the University of Basel Law School (1987 – 1990)